Why Constructor?

- Variables in a class must be initialized each time an instance is created.
- It can be tedious to initialize all the variables.
- Java allows objects to initialize themselves when they are created.
- This is performed through the use of a constructor.

Summary

Summary

- To create parameterized constructor.
- Functionality of parameterized constructor.
- The advantage of using constructor.

Assignment

Assignment

- Create a class Employee.

Assignment

- Create a class Employee.
- Create constructors with different number of parameters.
